TTi Announces Strategic Alliance With Exchangelt To Market CardExchange Products

Newport Beach, CA., March 15, 2007- TTi, a leading biometric and identification system supplier, today announces that they have entered into a strategic alliance with Exchangelt to become the exclusive distributor for CardExchange in the Americas.

CardExchange achieves a new level of sophistication and ease-of-use simply unheard of with prior ID software product offerings. By eliminating the built-in database and connecting directly to the end-user's existing databases, the issues of duplicate data entry and unwieldy data transfer solutions associated with traditional ID software are eliminated.

With the power of CardExchange, you can now pursue ID opportunities that required a level of sophistication and customization previously unavailable. Embed CardExchange into an Access Control application, print and encode over a network or the Internet, connect to an unlimited number of databases – each with unique views, these are but a few of the new tools at your disposal with CardExchange.

“We had been looking to expand the distribution of CardExchange into the Americas, but we just couldn't find the right partner until meeting TTi”, said Marcel Oosterhof, General Manager of Exchangelt, a Netherlands based developer of identification software applications. “We were immediately impressed by TTi's industry qualifications and product knowledge as shown by their almost 75 years of combined industry experience. Having the ability to take a unique product like CardExchange to the Americas , and provide the necessary technical support, exciting marketing programs, and application understanding makes our selection of TTi all the more exciting for Exchangelt.”

“This announced alliance between TTi and Exchangelt provides us with a tremendous opportunity to bring CardExchange to the Americas”, said Chuck Weiglin, COO of TTi. “As personal identification applications increase in complexity and size, the need for a product with the design and integration flexibility of CardExchange will allow us to provide our customers with solutions to all their special application needs”.
